

Stay Connected K-12

Keeping students and staff connected at home is essential

Access to technology has always played a key role in creating a viable K-12 learning environment. With the expansion of remote learning and working, the need to connect students, educators and staff to school systems and services when they are off-campus has become essential. Providing at-home connectivity addresses this need. However, end users can change over time, and managing devices, activation and technical support can be challenging and very costly for K-12 schools and districts.

Stay Connected K-12 allows schools to offer high-speed, cable broadband Internet access direct to students, educators and staff in their homes so learning, teaching and working are uninterrupted. It offers schools and districts flexibility to add locations where access is needed and remove locations when it is no longer required. Schools and districts can simply provide the details of residences in need of access and Spectrum Enterprise takes care of the rest.
